

SPECIAL COURSE FOR DEVELOPMENT POLICY
(MASTER'S COURSE)

Enrollment for the academic year
beginning in October 2024

Graduate School of International Cooperation Studies
(GSICS)

KOBE UNIVERSITY

1. Overview and Number of Students Admitted

Our master's program has a dual structure; the Japanese program starts in April and the English program (i.e., Special Course for Development Policy) starts in October. Accordingly, we have two enrollment periods: April and October. For a single academic year (from April to March), a total of 70 students are admitted. Generally the October admissions account for one-third to one-half of incoming students.

2. Study Requirements and Degrees Granted

Most students require two years to meet the degree requirements, but exceptional students may only need one year. The following requirements must be met: earn at least 30 credits (those who understand Japanese can take up to 12 credits from the subjects offered in the GSICS Program in Japanese), complete a master's thesis in English, and pass a final interview. Students who successfully complete these requirements are granted one of the following degrees: Master of International Studies, Master of Economics, Master of Laws, or Master of Political Science.

3. Eligibility for General Admission

Only applicants who are not of Japanese nationality and can obtain a student visa for enrollment may apply to the Special Course for Development Policy. Categories of eligible applicants are as follows:

- ③ An antibody certificate verifying that you have sufficient antibody titer in your blood (refer to the chart next page) to prevent the development of measles and rubella, based on the results of an antibody test performed within the last five years (since April 2019).
